Welcome to Rome, Italy

It is with great pleasure that we invite you, on behalf the Italian Academic Community and GII (Gruppo Italiano di Idraulica), at the 38th International Coastal Engineering Conference (ICCE) in Rome, Italy in 2024.

Coastal Engineering is a discipline of great importance in Italy, a giant pier surrounded by the sea in a strategic position in the middle of the Mediterranean Sea, with some 8000 km of coastline and about 3000 years of experience and achievements in coastal and harbour engineering from the Romans to Leonardo da Vinci and many others, (as also described in the specific chapter of the ASCE book "History and Heritage of Coastal Engineering" ed. N. Kraus, 1996).

In fact, Italy was successfully hosting its first ICCE in Venice in 1992. After that conference, with a memorable storm surge flooding of the venue on the first day, Venice was also the host of a well-attended Coastal Structures Conference in 2007. The renowned large scale project MOSE with mobile gates for the protection of the lagoon from high waters is now completed and will be in operation at the time of the conference in 2024, with the possibility to visit it within a post-conference tour.

Other significant coastal and port projects are underway (e.g., offshore gas terminals, wave energy converters, the new deep-water breakwater at Genoa).

The Italian community of Coastal Engineering is large and active, also in research, as shown by the quality and number of paper submissions at ICCE22 in Sydney.

The event management of the Conference will be done through a highly regarded professional conference organizer, who is also willing to assume the entrepreneurial risk associated to the event.

Italy is a safe country and its people have a reputation for friendliness and hospitality, especially in Rome, which is one of the most attractive cities in the world with millions of visitors each year. Besides its historical and artistic appeal, Rome offers excellent hotels and restaurants and it is very close to the sea and to harbour and beach protection projects, which can be visited during the technical trips.

We invite you to take up one of the sponsorship opportunities provided in the ICCE 2024 prospectus. We are sure you will agree that the ICCE 2024 Congress will be a highly beneficial experience for all, providing fantastic opportunities for sponsors and exhibitors to interact with the attendees and present their company, products and services.

We look forward to cooperate with CERC by hosting a successful ICCE 2024 in Rome.

COPRI

Created in 2000, the Coasts, Oceans, Ports, and Rivers Institute (COPRI) is a semi-autonomous institute of the American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE), the country's oldest national engineering society. COPRI's services are designed to complement ASCE's traditional civil engineering base, and attract non-engineering allied professionals who seek to enhance their professional and technical development.

COPRI serves its membership and society by uniting the disciplines working to sustainably develop, protect and restore coasts, oceans, ports, waterways, rivers and wetlands; integrating the key stakeholders into decision-making processes; advancing technological state of art and practice; and influencing public policy.

History of CERC and ICCE

The Council on Wave Research was established by Professor Boris Bakhmeteff in June 1950 under the Engineering Foundation. In 1963 the Council was transferred from the Foundation to ASCE and renamed the Coastal Engineering Research Council (CERC).

The first ICCE was held in Long Beach, CA in 1950, and has been held biennially since. Although the conferences began with a national focus, they quickly became international in scope.

Who is attending ICCE 2024?

ICCE is the premier international event in the field of coastal engineering.

The target audience is:

- Public and private researchers
- Practitioners and building industry professionals
- Public agencies, utilities and policy makers involved in the coastal engineering themes
- Private firms including manufacturers, management companies, utilities and software houses

Why Sponsor and/or exhibit at ICCE 2024?

- Sponsoring and/or exhibiting provides an excellent opportunity to promote your company, to support your brands and to maintain a high profile among delegates before, during and after the congress.
- Congress delegates are keen to improve their knowledge. Aligning your company with this powerful educational experience demonstrates your commitment to assisting attendee development at a very personal level.
- Your representatives will network informally with delegates from all over the world.
- Your company will benefit significantly from exposure to an interested, relevant and influential audience in an informal yet informative environment away from everyday distractions.

We would be delighted to discuss any sponsorship or exhibition opportunities.

Our aim is to ensure that delegates walk away from the congress feeling inspired and uplifted and that our supporters receive the most exposure from their support of the ICCE 2024.

PONTIFICAL GREGORIAN UNIVERSITY

Piazza della Pilotta, 4 - Rome

The Pontifical Gregorian University is a historic Jesuit University of the Catholic Church based in Rome and dedicated to various disciplines in the field of human sciences and, in particular, philosophical and theological ones. It is located in the city centre, in Piazza della Pilotta, a square on the slopes of the Quirinal hill, the highest of the seven hills of Rome, near the Trevi fountain.

Its first nucleus was the "School of Grammar and Christian doctrine" wanted by the founder of the Society of Jesus, Saint Ignatius of Loyola, in 1551. After five years, Pope Paul IV established the Athenaeum. In 1567, Pope Paul V elevated it to university. Due to the growing number of students, Pope Gregory XIII moved it to a new purposely built site - the Collegio Romano - whose chapel became the annexed church of Sant'Ignazio. The university will take the name of "Gregoriana" in honor of the Pontiff, its protector.
